Elden Ring is a browser-based multiplayer online RPG that combines elements of the traditional role-playing game and card game. The big difference is that the game focuses more on the role-playing component. Elden Ring's turn-based strategy elements work together to provide a unique experience. This game packs a lot of content: more than 50 items, 20 cards and 12 spells to choose from. As you progress through the game, you can find new cards, equip them to create your own special units, and use them to battle monsters and other players. There is also a PvP element to the game where you can challenge other players to fighting contests. It is important to note that playing Elden Ring is best done on a PC. Elden Ring does not work well on tablets and other mobile devices. The basic interface design is tolerable on PC, but if you use mobile devices, you may find the scrolling and other navigation difficult to use. THE NEW FANTASY ACTION RPG. "After this, if anyone tries to run on the same platform that Hillary ran on, they'll be destroyed." Related: Can Democrats Defeat Trump? It Could Take a Generation For some, Trump's election victory wasn't shocking at all. The author Michael Lewis recently said that he even saw many of Trump's supporters as "ordinary Americans who had somehow been catapulted into a role and needed to do extraordinary things." Others see Trump's followers in more nefarious terms. "I don't think Hillary Clinton's supporters are different than [Trump's supporters], only perhaps on which to properly implement the class Partitioning() in Spark I am trying to understand the usage of partitioning in Spark. Based on this article here is a sample code which tried to define the partitions in scala context: `import org.apache.spark.sql.functions._

val df = spark.range(100000).sample(false, 0.1, new DefaultPrettyPrinter) df.printSchema //root |-- _col0: long (nullable = true) df.orderBy(_col0).distinct.sortWithinPartitions.partitionBy(_col0).orderWithinPartitions.count() Spark gives error when I do df.printSchema: Error:(13, 17) type parameter type for expanded function ((x$1) => org.apache.spark.sql.functions.orderBy($col0).sortWithinPartitions($col0).partitionBy($col0).count()), type parameters I am confused about why it doesn't seem to work with the _col0 filter. Also my queries are failing when _col0 is defined as a column in the partitionBy. Can you point out the mistake or suggest a better way to write the query? //here there is no value for _col0 import org.apache.spark.sql.functions._
df.orderBy(_col0).distinct.sortWithinPartitions.partitionBy(_col0). foreach { _ => ... }`
